Dear Mr. Drasnin:

The Museum of Television & Radio and the Writers Guild of America, East will co-sponsor six seminars examining the art of television writing during the Fall of 1991. Each seminar will focus on a different type of writing -- dramatic productions, children's programming, daytime serials, news magazine and information programs, and two different perspectives on comedy writing. I would like to invite you to join us as a panelist for the "Writing for News Magazines" seminar on Thursday, November 21, 1991 from 6:00 to 7:30 pm.

The format of the evening will be as follows: Each panelist will be introduced and a short clip of each person's work will be shown. The moderator will then lead the panelists in discussion. During the final portion of the seminar, the floor will be opened to questions from the audience.

The seminar will take place in our new Philip Johnson-designed building at 25 West 52nd Street. The Writers Guild Seminars will be one of the highlights of the opening celebration for our new museum.

We are very excited about this event and hope you will be able to join us. Christine LeMoal, our Coordinator of Exhibitions & Seminars will contact you in a few days to discuss your availability for this event.

Sincerely,

Letty E. Aronson
Vice President
